Dear Morton,

Thank you for inviting me to participate in the Center's seminar on "What is Communism?" in early April. As I indicated in response to your previous letter, I welcomed the idea of the seminar. The subject is not only very important but one that warrants continued fresh attention because of the pace of change and questions about the direction of change among the key Communist parties of the world. And, as you know, I'm especially interested in promoting cross-fertilization of ideas and knowledge between the academic world and intelligence analysts on this and other questions.

My own schedule will not permit me to come to Chicago for the general seminar or to the special one on Italy in Washington on 5 April. However, I have arranged for knowledgeable officers to be present at both sessions, and they will acquaint me with the substance of the discussions.

For the Chicago seminar on 7 to 9 April, my representative will be of the Directorate for Intelligence
(Office of Regional and Political Analysis). For the Washington
	П

I appreciate the opportunity to promote the dialogue between academia and us in government, and hope you will give us further chances.

Yours,

STANSFIELD TURNER Admiral, U.S. Navy
